

List of Research Priorities of the Medical Emergencies Department, School of Nursing and Midwifery, Ardabil

1. Investigating occupational hazards and safety for medical emergency staff and students.
2. Investigating the competencies and performance of medical emergency technicians.
3. Investigating the quality of services provided by emergency medical bases against standards.
4. Investigating the epidemiology and etiology of common accidents and incidents in the province and evaluating related interventions.
5. Investigating the educational needs of medical emergency staff and students regarding air emergency services.
6. Professional ethics in medical emergencies.
7. Application of modern teaching methods to improve the quality of learning.